Transforming Home Décor: Kornit Digital and Niso Furniture Unveil Infinite Possibilities at Heimtextil 2025

Kornit Digital and Niso Furniture are set to revolutionize home décor at Heimtextil 2025, the world's largest trade fair for home textiles. With the theme of "One System, Endless Possibilities," the collaboration will debut a groundbreaking furniture collection designed to showcase infinite applications in digital textile printing. From cushions and sofas to wallpapers and armchairs, Kornit's cutting-edge technology promises a seamless design ecosystem for the modern era of sustainable home décor.

A Living Room Like No Other
Visitors to Booth Hall 4.2 D92 will be transported into a fully designed living room concept, featuring sofas, armchairs, a dining table, and curtains—all crafted using Kornit's state-of-the-art digital printing systems. This innovative collection exemplifies how designers and manufacturers can harness Kornit's technology to create premium-quality, personalized, and sustainable products on demand.

Revolutionizing the Supply Chain
Kornit Digital's virtual-first approach is transforming the supply chain by eliminating waste and unnecessary inventory. Its technology produces only what's needed, when it's needed, offering unrivaled flexibility to print on a variety of fabrics—whether natural, synthetic, or blended—using a single ink set. This unique solution empowers businesses to design and manufacture high-quality products across multiple materials and applications, enabling infinite customization and personalization.

Empowering Creativity, Sustainability, and Agility

“This partnership with Niso Furniture embodies the digital transformation sweeping through the textile and furniture industries,” said Chris Govier, EVP Strategic Growth and Marketing at Kornit Digital. “Together, we are creating a new paradigm for home décor—one where creativity, sustainability, and agility converge. Heimtextil 2025 provides the perfect stage to showcase Kornit’s demand-before-supply model, enabling designers and businesses to deliver unique, high-quality pieces while transforming traditional supply chains.”

Celebrating Israeli Innovation

Leon Edot, co-owner of Niso Furniture, added, “Our collaboration with Kornit Digital reflects our shared vision of combining creativity and technology to redefine furniture design.

The collection we've created represents a new era in home décor, where innovation knows no boundaries. We're proud to represent Israeli ingenuity on this global stage and inspire others through design and technology."

The Future of Home Décor at Heimtextil 2025

As Heimtextil 2025 focuses on innovation, sustainability, and digitization, Kornit Digital and Niso Furniture stand as trailblazers, showcasing how these principles can redefine industries. With over 50,000 visitors and 3,000 exhibitors expected, the event provides the perfect platform to connect with industry leaders, customers, and partners.
